1. INTRODUCTION

1.1. Foreword

The Port of Piraeus is Greece's largest port. It has a coastline of over 24 km and the area on land covers over 5 million m<sup>2</sup>. Given its geographical location, the port of Piraeus is a vital hub for transport, trade and supplies, tourism and communications, since it links the Greek islands with the mainland, and is also an international centre for cruise ships and the commercial transport of goods. The Port of Piraeus' location favours it operating as a port for both the wider region of Greece and for the Balkans and Black Sea countries.

The Port of Piraeus lies at the confluence of sea routes connecting the Mediterranean with Northern Europe, and thanks to its geographical location (south of the 38th parallel), large ships of the line can reach it without significantly deviating from the route that trade from the Far East follows. The Port of Piraeus is home to a complex, unique range of activities, including transport using RO/RO and passenger ferries (it is Europe's largest passenger port), serving all types of cargo, cruise liners, ship repair services, and the Port of Piraeus Free Zone (a type I customs control free zone) which operates in accordance with the tax and customs laws applicable to the area (Piraeus Free Zone).

1.2. Piraeus Port Authority S.A. (PPA SA)

PPA is the legal entity which is responsible for managing and running the Port of Piraeus. It was set up as a body governed by public law by Law 4748/1930, which was then recast by Emergency Law 1559/1950 and ratified by Law 1630/1951 and then subsequently amended and supplemented. In 1999 PPA was transformed into a society anonyme.

In April 2016, after an open public tender procedure, the Hellenic Republic Asset Development Fund (HRADF) as the main shareholder in PPA, and COSCO HK Ltd entered into a Share Purchase Agreement for it to acquire the majority stake in PPA's share capital. In August 2016 PPA stopped being a publicly-owned company and since then has been a private company whose purpose is to perform its obligations, conduct its business and exercise its powers in accordance with the amended concession agreement between the Greek State and PPA, which was ratified by Law 4404/2016.
